

Counters

Servery counters are available in all shapes and sizes from the humble stainless steel kitchen hot pass to a custom made highly specified customer facing design led unit. With a wide range of heated, refrigerated and ambient modules to choose from the combinations are huge and, coupled with the array of surface and panel options available, enable the client to build a customised solution for their business.

Moffat has nearly 50 years of experience manufacturing high quality servery counters at our UK factory. We have provided bespoke counters for clients both in the UK and abroad across all sectors of this highly competitive marketplace. This experience and skill base enables us to provide versatile and efficient counter solutions on time and on budget.

The following pages have just a few examples of different counter designs shown and we would ask that if you have need of a servery counter please forward the details to our estimating team for a quotation.
